New Substance Said Successor To Atom Bomb

Few Ounces Could Kill Everyone Canadian Asserts in Address

ST. CERGUE, Switzerland, Sept. 9 (Reuters).—The atom bomb has been made obsolete by a biological product, seven ounces of which is enough to kill everyone in the world, Dr. Brock Chisholm, Canadian director-general of the world health organization, said here today.

In one of his strongest speeches, Dr. Chisholm added:

"The atom bomb is obsolete. Relatively speaking it is child's play compared to biological weapons."

He said there was a biological product in existence which, if spread extensively, killed on contact or if breathed in.

"It can kill all living beings within six hours—and leave the area safe for troops to occupy within the 12 hours it takes to oxidize and disappear," he added.

"MANPOWER IRRELEVANT"

"A few fanatical distributors could destroy mankind by biological warfare. Manpower is irrelevant and heavy industry has nothing whatever to do with this form of war."

He was addressing members of the World Union of Peace Organizations, a non-governmental body affiliated with the United Nations. Dr. Chisholm compared mankind's position to that of the Brontosaurus, a pre-historic monster which became extinct because it could no longer adapt itself to the present.

"Man is now in the same position," he said. "He may or may not survive."

"It depends on whether he can change his behavior pattern to exist under this new set of conditions."

"Only a few more years of present behavior patterns will destroy the human race."

"One war may kill as many as 90 per cent of the world's people. One after that, we may be sure, will be totally efficient."

Milk Price May Go Up Because of Licence Fee

The price of milk in the Greater Victoria area, which has already spiralled to an unheard of 19 cents a quart, may go up again.

The Victoria Pasteurized Milk Distributors' Association yesterday threatened City Council that it would seek an increase in milk prices unless council reduces the licence fees charged the city's six leading milk distributors.

The price for a quart of milk since 1946 has now been increased six cents. According to the Provincial Milk Board, approximately five cents of this amount has gone to producers and one cent to distributors.

In a letter to the council, R. M. B. Crawford, secretary of the distributors' association, said the margin of profit under present price control regulations set by the board was so small that individual distributors had already made application to the board for higher prices.

Ernest C. Carr, chairman of the board, said in a telephone conversation from Vancouver last night that the distributors' association had not officially notified the board it would seek an increase. If such an application were made a hearing would be necessary. He said that if the increased tax levy had materially increased the cost of milk distribution the only way the distributors could make it up was to apply for a price rise.

Mr. Crawford explained in the letter to council that the price paid to farmers for milk as well as the cost to consumers is set by the Milk Board.

"The considerations given to both these parties leaves a very small margin for the distributors to operate on," stated Mr. Crawford. He added that farmers were well paid for their milk while consumers were getting it cheaply at the expense of distributors.

He said the recently-increased trade licence fees had struck a hard blow at milk distributors. "We strongly urge you to reconsider our position as any change in the price of milk must of necessity be passed along to the consumer, in other words the public, and again it will be the family man who will bear the brunt of any change," Mr. Crawford asserted in his letter to council.

Should the council agree to effect a decrease in the trade licence fees levied against milk distributors it would be an exception to the stand it has taken in refusing to grant decreases to many business concerns and professional groups who have recently campaigned for decreases in their licence fees.

Island Couple Rescued From Grounded Ship

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henniker of Cowichan Station on Vancouver Island were among passengers rescued from the British motor vessel Pacific Enterprise which ran onto rocks early yesterday at Pt. Arena, Calif. They are second and third from the right in above wirephoto. Five persons were taken from the ill-fated freighter. Left to right, they are: John Matthews, Oakland, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Henniker; C. H. Bookie, San Antonio, Texas; and Mrs. Dorothy Skelton, Woodfega Green, Essex, England. The passengers were removed from the ship by the United States Coast Guard. Since the vessel was upright, and in no immediate danger, the crew of 54 remained aboard. The ship, owned and operated by the Furness Line, was returning to Britain after making regular calls at Pacific Northwest ports, including Victoria and Vancouver.

Attack on Reds In T.L.C. Likely

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—A new frontal attack may be launched next week against Communists in Canadian labor.

Having disposed of the Red-influenced Canadian Seamen's Union, anti-Communist forces in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada are getting ready to open fire on other unions subject to far-left leadership within Canada's biggest labor body.

Their attack is being prepared quietly and tentatively, with its delivery hinging on what strength they can muster for the T.L.C.'s annual convention opening at Calgary next Thursday.

Pre-convention indications are that the right-wing element will show preponderant strength at the meeting, though informed labor men say it is still too early to predict whether a majority will go so far as to favor ejecting Red-run unions. All that is certain in this direction now is that the Canadian Seamen's Union, at present under suspension from the congress, will be kicked out at Calgary.

Prague Rejects Vatican Envoy

PRAGUE, Sept. 9 (CP).—Long-strained relations between Czechoslovakia's Communist Government and the Vatican appeared at the breaking point tonight.

Roman Catholic sources at the Vatican said relations were considered virtually broken off because the Czech Government had refused an entry visa to the Holy See's chargé d'affaires for its Nunciature to Prague.

Three of the passengers killed were American industrialists, flying into the Northeastern Quebec area, where deposits of titanium ore have been discovered.

Two others were connected with the Quebec North Shore Paper Company and were from St. Catharines, Ont.

Most of the other passengers were residents of Quebec and other parts of the province.

The Americans killed were A. J. Stannard and R. J. Parker of New York, president and vice-president of the Kennecott Copper Corporation, the crash was headed by the C.P.A. president, G. W. C. McConchie, who was to have succeeded Stannard this Autumn.

It is not known how soon the bodies can be brought out. The only ingress is by rail.

BULLETINS To Aid Ship

HALIFAX, Sept. 9 (CP).—The Coast Guard cutter Dexter, scurrying to haven from an onrushing Atlantic hurricane, tonight altered course and headed to the side of a grounded coastal steamer and her eight-man crew off Newfoundland.

Pair Arrested

MONTREAL, Sept. 9 (CP).—Two heavily-armed men believed to be the notorious "Mutt and Jeff bandits" were arrested here tonight. The "Mutt and Jeff bandits"—so nicknamed because of their varied stature—are wanted for six recent tavern and jewelry store holdups here.

Damage Heavy In Macao Fire

HONGKONG, Sept. 9 (AP).—An 18-hour fire destroyed the power plant at Macao, Portuguese colony on the South China coast, with an estimated loss of $3,000,000 (Portuguese currency), it was revealed today. Portuguese authorities said the fire started from a short circuit last Wednesday and continued Thursday.

Island Passengers Safe in Grounding

Cowichan Couple Removed From Motorship on Reef

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9 (INS).—The British motor vessel Pacific Enterprise ran aground today on a reef off the fog-shrouded California coast near Point Arena, one hundred miles north of San Francisco.

Five passengers, including two from Vancouver Island, aboard the 11,230-ton ship were removed by a United States Coast Guard lifeboat rescue party about two hours after the vessel pounded onto the reef and began taking water in her forward section. Forty-nine officers and crew members are still aboard.

First distress message from the grounded ship came at 9:15 a.m. (P.S.T.) when her master, Capt. M. E. Cogle, radioed the Coast Guard for immediate assistance. He reported water pouring in fast in the ship's No. 1, 2 and 3 holds.

The Pacific Enterprise, fully loaded with 9,300 tons of general cargo, left Seattle September 6 for Los Angeles. Her ultimate destination was Manchester, England.

Two tug and a Coast Guard cutter left San Francisco to aid the stricken vessel and a second cutter put out from Eureka, Calif., just north of the rock-strewn stretch of coastline where the Pacific Enterprise went aground.

Officials of the Furness Withy & Co. Ltd., agents for the ship's London owners, expressed fears the Pacific Enterprise may be a total loss.

The ship's valuable cargo, taken aboard at Vancouver, B.C., and Seattle, included 1,500,000 feet of lumber, and tons of grain, metal, canned salmon and wood pulp.

Exact location of the wreck at dusk was at a point less than a mile from the tip of the Point Arena Coast Guard light station, an area of coastline long known as a "ship's graveyard."

READY FOR RESCUE

Beach life-saving apparatus from the Point Arena station was rigged up to remove crew members by breeches buoy if the ship begins breaking up. A moderate sea was running, however, and rescue craft already standing by may transfer the crewmen if and when the ship is ordered abandoned.

Furness Withy identified the passengers as:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henniker of Cowichan Station, Vancouver Island; C. H. Bookie of San Antonio, Tex.; and Edinburgh, Scotland; J. P. Matthews, formerly of Oakland, Cal., and en route to London; and Mrs. D. E. Skelton, en route to Essex, England, from Vancouver, B.C.

"SUDDEN GRINDING"

Mrs. Skelton told rescuers the passengers were having breakfast when "there was a sudden grinding and a horrible lurching" as the vessel piled onto the rocks.

The ship's agents said they would bring the rescued passengers to San Francisco by automobile.

Six other passengers were to have been picked up at Los Angeles for the return voyage to England.

The 454-foot motor vessel was built in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1927. Captain Cogle, according to Furness Withy, intended to retire at the completion of the voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henniker of Cowichan Station, Vancouver Island; C. H. Bookie of San Antonio, Tex.; and Edinburgh, Scotland; J. P. Matthews, formerly of Oakland, Cal., and en route to London; and Mrs. D. E. Skelton, en route to Essex, England, from Vancouver, B.C.

The temporary rights expire September 30. Meanwhile, the legality of the agreement, signed in Ottawa last June 4, is being questioned by Colonial Airlines in a Federal Court action here.

U.S. Senate Committees Approve Big Arms Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—A $1,314,010,000 plan to arm foreign countries against Communism was approved today by two big Senate committees which inserted $75,000,000 for President Truman to use as he chooses in the Far East.

The over-all total, approved by a vote of 19 to 3, gives Truman the bulk of the $1,450,000,000 he originally requested although some strings are tied to the fund.

Truman administration forces, headed by Senator Tom Connally (Dem-Tex.), turned back a determined drive spearheaded by Republicans to earmark money specifically for non-Communist China.

Instead the Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees meeting in joint session approved, 13 to 9, the clause giving the President unfettered power to spend $75,000,000 to help stem Communism in China or elsewhere in the Far East. He would not even have to tell Congress how he was spending the money.

Advocates of specific help to non-Communist China said this was a meaningless "pork" and announced they would continue their fight on the Senate floor.

Some minor matters remain to be ironed out before the committees report the Bill to the Senate. This is expected to be done Monday.

Sergeant Cheats Death During 1,000-Foot Drop

FORT BENNING, Ga., Sept. 9 (INS).—Master-Sergeant James R. Hendrix of Lepanto, Ark., today told how he screamed a prayer for protection while plummeting 1,000 feet from a plane at Fort Benning.

The Congressional Medal of Honor winner suffered only a few minor cuts and bruises in the plunge.

Hendrix was the 13th man to jump from the plane late yesterday when he went aloft to qualify as a paratrooper. Both his regular chute and the emergency failed to open.

LINES TANGLED

Hendrix related that as he leaped from the aircraft, the force of the propeller wash entangled the chute's shroud lines in his boot buckles.

He added that he then opened his emergency parachute at about 500 feet, "but it folded up after a few seconds when it became fouled in the unopened chute. Hendrix recalled:

"I screamed for help from God as I fell helplessly."

Just how the paratrooper, who was making his final jump to qualify to wear the famed aerial soldiers' wings, escaped injury was something of a mystery.

Paratroopers and medical officers, as well as Hendrix were at a loss for an explanation of the miracle.

Hendrix attributed his escape from death and serious injury to his doubling his body in a V-shaped position just before striking the ground, and rolling over-and-over after hitting.

Hendrix was awarded the Medal of Honor for heroism in the Battle of the Bulge. He was with the Fourth Armored Division, and knocked out two 88-m.m. gun emplacements, two machine gun nests, killed seven Germans and captured 13 others. He also saved four American soldiers trapped in a burning tank.

The paratrooper is married and the father of a two-year-old daughter.

Charge Heard Against Pilot Of Aircraft

PRINCE RUPERT, Sept. 9 (AP).—An airlines president was accused today of piloting an aircraft while intoxicated and was remanded to October 31. It is believed to be the first such charge laid in Canada.

Aubrey H. Westinghouse of Victoria, president of Westinghouse Airways, is accused of being drunk while in charge of a Sea-bee aircraft at Ocean Falls, B.C., May 31. The plane carried two passengers.

Witnesses testified today Westinghouse taxied the plane in Ocean Falls harbor but was persuaded to return to base without taking off. J. R. Boner and A. W. Rogers, two Vancouver salesmen whose company chartered the plane, said the accused was in "what appeared to be a drunken condition."

They said Westinghouse told the men he would fly them to Bella Bella, B.C., but when persuaded to return to the wharf, they said he told them he intended to fly the plane alone to Victoria. Provincial Police Constable Len Adams ordered the aircraft grounded.

Westinghouse faces a secondary charge of piloting an aircraft while under the effect of a stimulant.

Adjournment was granted at the request of the defence counsel, T. A. Dohm of Vancouver, who said he needed additional time to present two witnesses.

Third Worst Crash in Canadian Air History Takes 23 Lives

SAULT AU COCHON, Que., Sept. 9 (CP).—Twenty-three persons died today in the crash of a Canadian Pacific Airlines DC-3 plane, the third worst disaster in Canada's air history.

The plane struck a rocky bluff that rises several hundred feet above the north shore of the St. Lawrence River about 40 miles east of Quebec City.

The 19 passengers and crew of four died instantly.

After striking, the plane plummeted into dense bush.

Pieces of the shattered aircraft were strewn about the ground and hanging in branches of trees.

Most of the bodies were jammed in disorder in a front section of the plane.

NO FIRE

There was no fire following the crash, although the few persons who saw the plane strike the cliff said they heard some sort of explosion before it struck.

Ten men, six women and three children made up the passenger complement of the plane. The crew of four—three officers and the stewardess—died with them.

The plane was on a regular flight operated by Quebec Airways, subsidiary of Canadian Pacific Airlines.

An immediate investigation into the disaster was begun by G.P.A. officials and a board of inquiry set up by the Federal Department of Transport.

TURNED INLAND

The plane appeared in some kind of trouble before it crashed. It suddenly turned north, inland, and ran dead on into the rugged bluff.

Three of the passengers killed were American industrialists, flying into the Northeastern Quebec area, where deposits of titanium ore have been discovered.

Two others were connected with the Quebec North Shore Paper

Company and were from St. Catharines, Ont.

Most of the other passengers were residents of Quebec and other parts of the province.

The Americans killed were A. J. Stannard and R. J. Parker of New York, president and vice-president of the Kennecott Copper Corporation, the crash was headed by the C.P.A. president, G. W. C. McConchie, who was to have succeeded Stannard this Autumn.

It is not known how soon the bodies can be brought out. The only ingress is by rail.

The three top figures of the Kennecott Copper Corporation shown above were aboard a Quebec Airways plane which crashed in dense timber 40 miles northeast of Quebec City yesterday. All 23 persons in the aircraft were killed. From left to right are R. J. Parker, vice-president of the corporation; Arthur D. Storke, president-designate, and E. T. Stannard, president. The plane was en route from Montreal to Baie Comeau.

The cross on this map indicates the spot where the aircraft crashed into a rocky bluff that rises several hundred feet above the north shore of the St. Lawrence River.

U.S. Officials Think Britain May Ask Canada To Take Sterling for Wheat

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (CP).—Some high-ranking United States officials were reported tonight to believe that Britain may eventually have to ask Canada to take sterling instead of dollars in return for Canadian wheat.

Canada's Finance Minister, Douglas Abbott, said he has heard no expression of any such belief by American economic officials.

These sources said this possibility had been raised in the three-power talks.

Earlier, in another phase of discussion of the wheat situation, a British informant said there is "definitely no possibility" that the United Kingdom will buy wheat in the United States rather than in Canada.

SERIOUS LOSS

The Canadian Press as he left today's session of the Anglo-Canadian financial conference.

He made the same comment after being told the report came from well-informed quarters.

NO COMMENT

A British official, asked about the report, said he had "no view on that matter."

Britain now pays her own earned dollars for wheat under the Anglo-Canadian contract. She needs the wheat but she needs the dollars badly, too.

The informed sources who reported the American belief that Britain might have to consider asking approval of a switch from dollars to sterling emphasized it was just an opinion about one of the many possibilities arising from Britain's financial trouble.

There was no suggestion from

United States wheat—and there is plenty on hand—would be available through the Marshall Plan, with no drain on Britain's meagre dollar supply, but that would mean a serious loss to Canada.

One of the things Britain is reported seeking at the Anglo-Canadian-American dollar talks here is that.

All Members Will Have Similar Chairs

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Members of Parliament may stand on a lot of differences at the impending session of Parliament but there won't be any such differences in what they sit on.

All the chairs in the House of Commons will be the same size.

Hon. Gaspard Pateux, who continues as Speaker of the House until Parliament begins September 15, today spoke the speculation that oversize chairs would be provided for oversize members.

"All the members will have the same chairs and the same desks," Mr. Pateux said with finality. "I have given no orders for any special chairs for members of Parliament."

Mr. Pateux thus put an end to the varied reports that larger and specially-constructed chairs would be provided for Jack Garland, Liberal member for Nipissing, who is said to weigh about 500 pounds, and Mayor Camille Houde, Independent member for Montreal-Papineau, who tips the scales at about 300.

The carrier pigeon, heath hen, Labrador duck, Carolina parakeet and great auk are all extinct birds of North America.

Driver Suffers Breakdown After Wild Ride Down Hill

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9 (INS).—A truck-trailer heavily loaded with lumber slipped its brakes today on a steep Ridge Route grade and began running away. Driver Oliver Bliss "stuck it out" at the wheel despite the 100-miles-per-hour speed picked up by the careening truck.

A state highway patrol car, endeavoring to get in front of the runaway, was unable to keep pace.

The truck-trailer roared four miles downhill, smashed into a parked delivery truck and Bliss finally brought it to a halt.

No one was injured but Bliss went to Newhall Community Hospital with a nervous breakdown.

Tokio Rose Suspect Declares She Rejected Jap Loyalty Plea

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9 (INS).—Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, testifying in her own defence at the San Francisco Tokio Rose treason trial, wept today as she related how she rejected a demand for an oath of loyalty to Japan.

The slender 33-year-old defendant's eyes filled with tears during her testimony and Federal Judge Michael J. Roche permitted a brief delay so that she could regain her composure.

WOULD BE EASIER
Her voice choked with sobs, the Los Angeles-born Nisei woman said: "David Huga, co-ordinator for the Japanese army and Radio Tokyo, came to me in the Spring of 1944 and asked me to take an oath that I would co-operate with the army. He said it would be easier for me if I did because 'things are going to tighten up.'"

"I told him he'd never get that out of me—that I was on the radio for just one reason and I was going to stick by the prisoners of war until the house collapsed."

The defendant said that Major Charles Cousens, captured Australian officer and one of her radio mentors, had warned her that a British officer and an American officer had been taken from the Bunka prison

Minimum Pay Set by Church

HALIFAX, Sept. 9 (CP).—The Church of England in Canada today approved a minimum salary of $1,600 a year for married clergymen on missionary work and at the same time paved the way for action which may raise it to $1,800.

The move followed long discussion at the 17th general synod here.

The motion setting the minimum salary for married missionaries at $1,600 actually confirmed a decision made by the board of management of missionary work in 1947 at Saskatoon. Previous minimum was $1,400. Minimum for single clergymen is $1,200.

Hints Increase Planned In Aid to Fish Industry

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Prime Minister St. Laurent today indicated to the Fisheries Council of Canada that there will be more Government aid for the fishing industry.

While he said he was not in a position to make specific commitments, the Prime Minister said he thought both Federal and Provincial Governments could make "profitable investments" in the industry to improve and enlarge its output.

Mr. St. Laurent, addressing a luncheon of the council, said he felt that up to now the central government perhaps has not done its full part in encouraging the industry.

Referring to a program of assistance outlined by Fisheries Minister Mayhew last May, the Prime Minister said that, though it might not be completed, it was an indication that the Government does not want to step into your field," he told the fish company representatives, "but there probably are ways and means whereby both Federal and Provincial Governments can contribute to the further development of the industry."

FEDERAL RESPONSIBILITY
Mr. St. Laurent said it is a responsibility of the Canadian Government to help expand fish markets, both abroad and at home.

He added there could be profitable investments in the fish industry, by the industry itself and by Federal and Provincial Governments, to improve the product.

"We are not in a position to make

Small Boys' Ears to Stay Dry —No Watermelon Coming Here

No watermelon will reach the fruit counters of Victoria this year, it was announced sadly yesterday by a local wholesaler.

Dealers of the big green melon on the coast seem to embargo restrictions, he said, plus the fact that the Okanagan crop is not large enough to do more than satisfy regional demands.

No further drop is expected in potato prices, dealers reported, following a new low price established this week.

Prices now range from $2.40 to $3.10 a sack, wholesale and $3 to $3.70 retail.

Dealers are still urging purchase of preserving peaches before shipments cease. It is expected that this week will see the wind-up of major shipments to the local market.

On the plentiful list this week are bananas, citrus fruits, cauliflower, corn, tomatoes.

First shipment of MacIntosh Red apples is expected here on Monday and Hyslop cranapples are already on sale.

CARNIVAL DATES SET

Annual Fall carnival of the Victoria Lions Club will be held October 14 and 15 at the Bay Street Armoury, it was announced yesterday. Sam Taylor, general chairman of the event, said doors would be open from 7 p.m. until midnight on each night, and that proceeds will go to the Protestant Orphanage. All members of the active service club will take part in the carnival program.

RETURNED HOME

Equimault Police Commissioner D. W. Barker, 1015 Wollaston Street, has returned home from St. Joseph's Hospital where he was confined for about three weeks due to an accident at his home. He is expected to be recuperating about two months.

INJURED IN CRASH

Frank Ayender of Langford received an injured nose and his car was damaged to the extent of about $400 Thursday night in an accident on Goldstream Road.

Provincial Police reported that a car driven by Ayender left the road and struck a tree.

BURNS CLUB SPEAKER

James McGrath, who has just returned from a tour of Britain, will be the guest speaker at the opening meeting of the Burns Club on Tuesday night at Prince Robert House. The meeting is to perpetuate the memory of Robert Burns and to encourage the study of the poet's life and works as well as Scottish literature, art, music, folklore and history. Scottish songs and music will be provided at the meeting.

NAMED CONCILIATOR

The Labor Relations Board announced yesterday that R.C. Clements has been appointed conciliator in a dispute between the Hudson's Bay Company, Victoria, and the Retail Clerks' Union, Local 1279.

The board said wages and union security are under negotiation. Four hundred and fifty employees are represented by the union.

Foresee End of Strife In Organization Dispute

An end to organizational strife at Royal Jubilee Hospital between rival employee groups may be in sight.

The recent reapplication for certification by the Royal Jubilee Hospital Employees' Association, formed June 18, following organization of the Victoria Hospital Employees' Federal Union (V.H.E.F.U.), was discussed at a meeting of the Labor Relations Board, yesterday afternoon.

The association's first application for certification as bargaining agent for the hospital workers was turned down by the board a month ago.

Reason given by the board for the rejection was that department heads and higher officials were admitted to honorary membership in the group, rendering it "ineligible as a labor organization within the meaning of the (I.C.A.) act."

However, the association was advised that it could re-apply for certification if it revised its constitution to "conform to the requirements of the act."

Following two special meetings, officials of the association announced that the honorary membership provisions had been removed from the group's constitution and that a new application for certification was being made.

Announcement of a labor board decision in the matter is expected shortly.

Union officials have continued to protest the association application.

Miss Anthony delighted her audience with "How I Became a Writer," as she cheerfully related her many and varied vicissitudes.

Dr. Coleman's subject was "An American Looks at Canadian Literature." He stressed the fact that through racial, geographic and economic factors Canadian literature was very definitely reaching a new literary maturity.

Dr. Coleman mentioned the work of many Canadians, among them a number of Victoria writers.

Transportation Group Against Bus Curtailment

Bus fare increases or not, the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee is against any curtailment of present services or lifting of lines where homes are being built in expectation of such services.

Alderman Harold Digson yesterday said the committee was not anxious to see the curtailment of any routes since the value of adjacent property would drop and the public be inconvenienced.

He stated the committee would not agree to the lifting of bus routes in areas where citizens have built homes expecting bus services would be readily available.

To hold the fare structure at its present rate, however, he declared it may be necessary to agree to the institution of a less frequent service in certain areas.

Concerning the committee's stand on the issue, he urged the public to make known its views through newspapers, the City Hall, the committee, or through himself.

He said the committee was seeking "an intelligent cross-section of public opinion" regarding the application of the transit companies.

"Our task is to try to analyze public opinion in the area and the justice of the question," he concluded.

Contract to reconstruct $65 mile of the Fraser Canyon Road has been awarded to Highway Construction Company for $363,974, Works Minister E. C. Carson announced yesterday.

Radio's Well-Known Town Meeting Opening Dominion Tour in Victoria

The well-known radio discussion program, Town Meeting in Canada, will visit Victoria soon, Keith Cutler, tours manager for Town Meeting Ltd., announced during a brief stay in the city.

The program, which is "Canada's forum," will make Victoria its starting point on a Dominion-wide tour, Mr. Cutler said.

First in the cross-country series of one-hour broadcasts will be recorded here on September 23. When the recording is released, voices of Victorians taking part will be heard on a coast-to-coast series of radio stations from CJA-V, Alberni and CJOJ, Vancouver, to VOXM in St. John's, Newfoundland.

The program will be open to the public. During the first portion, four speakers will express varying viewpoints on an issue of current interest. Then the audience will fire questions and voice their opinions.

Discussion topic and names of principal speakers will be announced as soon as plans are final, Mr. Cutler said.

Town Meeting in Canada was founded six years ago by Arthur Helps, its present moderator, who has seen it grow from a single-station experiment to a coast-to-coast institution.

The program, heard by 1,000,000 Canadians, will give Victoria excellent publicity, Mr. Cutler pointed out. Part of the program will be devoted to a "Salute" to Victoria.

Fishing Boat's SOS. Proves False Alarm

A distress signal transmitted by a small fishing vessel in difficulty off the northwest coast of Vancouver Island last night proved a false alarm.

The message was received about 6 p.m. by the 12th Group of Air-Sea Rescue Squadron based in Vancouver from the fishboat Arbutus I and relayed to H.M.C. Dockyard at Esquimalt.

It was reported the signal said the boat was "taking water" off Cape Coast, due west of Brooks Peninsula, and required assistance.

Naval authorities sent a message to C.N.A.V. Headquarters, requesting the change her course and render assistance to the distressed boat.

When the weathering reached the scene, however, it was learned the Arbutus I was proceeding to port under its own power and was escorted by an unidentified fishboat.

The naval ship was then redirected to proceed to Winter Harbor.

TOASTMASTERS
The head of the speech department of the Seattle University said a few words last night.

But when Greg Crawley speaks he only needs a few words, members of the Victoria Union Toastmasters, No. 331, learned.

He acted as general critic for the evening, answered questions and gave professional advice on six members' public speaking eloquence.

The speakers were Wilfred Smith, G. Langley, Ralph Meeks, Kenneth Tyrrell, George Gunniss and Charles Milner.

Toastmaster was Ben Franklin, topmaster, James Bayliss; introduction topmaster, Robert Fletcher; introduction toastmaster, Jack Chapman.

Grace was delivered by Ernest Bayliss while the vote of thanks to the speaker was given by William Brown. Edward White reported on the International convention.

Work for Everyone Who Is Willing

ANY man who wants a job and is willing to go anywhere can get employment in Canada," was the assertion of the Federal Minister of Labor at Edmonton recently. It was a distinguished assertion, too, one of the best that one has noticed coming from a governmental source in quite a long time. It is true, of course. Anyone, man or woman, in Canada who is willing to work can find employment, the more readily as their degree of sincerity appears. Indeed, that is both the treasured boast and the ascertained fact of Canada's swift rise from a frontier nation to a highly developed trading entity with a place of its own in the world.

Labor Minister Mitchell put the emphasis in its right place—a desire to work. It has been a long time, perhaps too long a time, since work has been sought for its own sake, for the good it can do to the individual as a human being. During the war and since a misplaced emphasis has settled somewhat on the returns for working, to the virtual exclusion of the thing itself. Yet it is work that is essential to man and work for its own sake. The returns for it are as necessary, and no one will dispute that; but pride in the job should come uppermost. That was how Canada was developed.

It need strain no one's political thought to agree with the Dominion Labor Minister that this is a land where the will can find work if they will go to it. It has been proved many times over, and no matter how desperate the times it has ever been found true. It is the idle, the shiftless, the unwilling, those blinded by the unearned dollar who may find it difficult to keep themselves in effective employment, either now or at any other time. That is a matter of character, and Mr. Mitchell seems to have hit upon one sterling essential of the Canadian character—normal Canadians like to work.

Taxation Field Needs Overhauling Completely

THE Union of British Columbia Municipalities has held its convention, passed its quota of resolutions, and adjourned for the year after a successful meeting in Victoria. Express bids to have the senior governments take over this or that service, to share this or that tax receipt, and generally to ease the financial burden on the municipalities were not wanting. The suggested remedies ranged from a larger share of the sales tax, to a definite cut from the income tax as it changes hands. Surprisingly, however, British Columbia municipalities have not yet followed their conclusions down to the real leak—the fact that Dominion and Provincial Governments between them are taking 75 cents of all tax dollars available from within municipal borders.

No piecemeal adjustment of the situation, under educational costs or otherwise, will relieve a condition that was uneven at the start and which has grown only more so as population in urban areas has increased. Leaving specific taxes aside, the senior governments almost exhaust the revenue field before the municipalities can begin. They have been left with land values, trade licences, publicly-owned utility profits, the dog tax and a few other insignificant odds and ends. At the same time both Dominion and Province in every legislative sitting invent new duties for the municipalities to live up to and perform.

Nothing short of a thorough-going overhaul of the whole field of taxation in Canada is likely to make much impression on the situation that exists. Federal-provincial discussions were supposed to have paved the way for that. In fact, they have done nothing of the kind. So the cities hold out their hands and beg for more. A Royal Commission on multiple taxation would be more, to the point, and even that would take two years to energize into action.

Is It the Fault or Virtue of the Pib Mhor?

ONE hesitates to suggest that his predilection for the pibroch had anything to do with the elevation of New Westminster's Tom Reid to the Senate, even though unsympathetic ears are not unknown in the House of Commons in other fields as well as music. Many a time and oft, perhaps, his former fellow members may have wished his beloved bagpipes anywhere but around their presence, this noble instrument not always being appreciated in alien company.

At all events the new Senator has announced his intention of taking his bagpipes with him to the Upper House, and playing them there as doughtily as he did for 19 long years in the Commons. One feels sure there will be repercussions. Lethargy is bound to be disturbed, but if the elderly inhabitants of that august chamber can be stirred to listen to a new tune a new virtue may be discovered in the great pib mhor. It may goad them to legislative action, or at least to a desire to be given more of this type of work to do.

Should this be the result of Senator Reid's appointment one may be inclined to regret his long sojourn in the Commons, where familiarity or cotton-stuffed ears may have dulled the martial call of the pibroch. It all depends, of course, on the good will of the Government-in-Commons, and there is still the nagging thought that whether by accident or design it is a fact the latter have now placed some distance between themselves and the Senator's bagpipes. Even so, however, Tom Reid's arrival behind the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod should be a stimulating occasion. He might even buttress the pib mhor with the kilt!

WORKING MEN ONLY?

Sir,—I don't think there is anything more annoying than to board a bus after a busy day to find it full of women shoppers. Surely there is a solution to this ever-increasing problem. Between the hours of 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. a bus driver could be given the authority to refuse a culprit, laden with parcels transportation on his bus. The slogan should be: "Working Men Only."

A. BROWN.

Burnside Road, Victoria, B.C.

SLIP IN PRINT

Sir,—I would like to call your attention to picture in a recent issue of The Daily Colonist, "Victoria's First Boer War Soldiers," under which it states: "They left Victoria in October, 1898."

As an old veteran of the Boer War, enlisting in England in October, 1899, and leaving for South Africa in 1900, I venture to state that whoever wrote the above was one year out of his reckoning; unless the Canadian contingent left before war was declared, which date (I believe) was October 28, 1899. Peace was declared around June 6, 1902. Thanking you.

HOSPITAL SCHEME

Sir,—Hospitalization rates for next year in the Province of Saskatchewan have just been declared as follows: $10 for all persons over 18, and $5 for children, with a maximum rate of $30. Age for single persons subject to the levy has, indeed, been lowered from 21 to 18; but here in British Columbia it starts at 16 for girls and boys at work.

Premier Johnson has asserted that British Columbia benefits are more generous than elsewhere (which probably means Saskatchewan). But as only bare hospitalization in a public ward is offered in British Columbia and that in overcrowded, under-staffed hospitals which certainly do not hesitate to speed patients on their way, just as soon as they are able to go, we are hardly convinced.

Cases have occurred where elderly persons have suffered a stroke or other non-operable illness having been told by their doctors that the hospitals are all full, and been sent to expensive private nursing homes for which no allowance is payable by the British Columbia hospital scheme. The heavy cost is borne by these elderly people who are often in no good position to incur it.

ANOTHER VIEW

Sir,—It might be noted that, in addition to increase in transit fares there are also increases to road maintenance due to the advent of heavier buses used by the B.C.E.R. It should be possible for the transit company to obtain lighter and more economical equipment. The unduly heavy buses operating on some residential streets cause expense, also, to householders by cracking plaster and stucco walls. The long buses using narrow residential streets also cause traffic hazards, particularly at intersections when making a right-hand turn.

From "The Traveller"

Vain, very vain, my weary search to find
That bliss which only centres in the mind:
Why have I stray'd from pleasure and repose,
To seek a good that government bestows?
In every government, though terrors reign,
Though tyrant kings or tyrant laws restrain,
How small, of all that human hearts endure,
That part which laws or kings can cause or cure.
Still to ourselves in every place consign'd,
Our own felicity we make or find:
With secret course, which no loud storms annoy,
Glide the smooth current of domestic joy.
The lifted axe, the agonising wheel,
Luke's iron crown, and Damien's bed of steel,
To men remote from power but rarely known,
Leave reason, faith, and conscience, all our own.

The Clenched Fist Salute

Best Sellers

By FRANK KELLEY

WHILE it may not be the "best seller" in any twelve-month period, in aggregate sales since the first King James version of the Bible was printed it is generally appreciated that the good book has had no near competitors in the number of volumes printed and read.

Some publishers, particularly in recent years, have claimed second-place honors for various published works. Such claims can only be taken for what they are worth—at face value. Easy enough to keep track of where agreements with authors have to be carried out, what about the tally of books which have been published for years and sold to retailers by weight and not by number?

Bibliophiles would undoubtedly be interested in knowing how many copies of other books have been published since their first printings. They would like to know, for instance, how "Gone With the Wind," which, following the death of author Margaret Mitchell recently, a number of reviewers stated sold more copies than any published work with the exception of the Bible, comes to be so rated considering all the circumstances.

At any rate, the statement so made called for quick denial by some book-lovers who had done a bit of reading, maybe of another trend, too, and were more or less familiar with book outputs in modern years. These, and probably rightly so, while not concerned or caring about where "Gone With the Wind" would really place in the record are sure that the book, "In His Steps," would outdistance it in printed numbers, and, by long odds, anything in the line of books with the exception of the Bible.

While, according to the evidence, it is reasonably safe to believe there was a close check on the number of author Mitchell's book produced for royalty purposes, it is impossible, it was admitted, to ever know what the presses tallied in connection with the book which had so great a run after the Reverend Mr. Sheldon wrote "In His Steps."

Had author Sheldon been writing with his eyes on the "market" instead of being engrossed in his inspirational work there might have been left a fairly good record of what the majority of people prefer between book covers; but it was not to be. And thereby hangs one of the oddest tales in the annals of book-publishing, in modern times, anyway.

When the author had finished with the story which was to sweep America, practically every publisher of note in the United States, it is said, was canvassed and read the manuscript. Not one was interested. Eventually one of the smaller publishing concerns consented to bring out the book; but had so little faith in its appeal he wouldn't put up the necessary two dollars to obtain a copyright.

Lack of this little investment meant that while literally millions of copies of "In His Steps" were sold, neither the author nor his heirs ever received a cent from the proceeds. Capitalizing on the demand for the book, as it was anybody's property, a number of publishers put out the book at any price which netted them a profit. Sales of the book were enormous.

Glory of the Sun

Sunlight, these late Summer days may remind one, perhaps, of Walt Whitman's "Give me the splendid silent sun," for the sun is, from its triumphant appearing at dawn to its quiet setting at dusk, a wondrous thing indeed.

Ever the most remarkable phenomenon in the universe, it gives unceasing light, life and joy, shining on all impartially, lighting darkened places, nourishing new growth, creating beauty, warmth and color.

The earth owes much of its happiness to the sun, for when the sun shines, life is radiant. —Montreal Gazette.

Punch Keeps 'Em Coming

By MORLEY CASSIDY

MARGATE, England.—Punch and Judy, those 12th century Abbott and Costello, are trying out a 20th century gag this year, and it's knocking the customers right out of their play suits.

They're playing store, for a change, and Punch hangs up a sign that says "Butcher." Judy cocks her fox-terrier head, and a falsetto voice says:

"Good morning, Mr. Butcher. What is the meat ration this week?"

"Nine pennyworth, ma'am," says Punch. "Shall I wrap it up?"

"No," says Judy, "I'll eat it here." And she sinks her teeth into Punch's big red nose.

It's a howl, a whamola, a killerdiller. As Punch howls and clouds Judy with a stick to make her let go of the meat ration, the five-year-olds squeal for joy and even the grownups have to laugh.

And it's those grownups, Baker says, who emboldened him to take such monstrous liberty with the eight-century-old routine.

"It's werry tricky, you know," says John Baker, who has been playing Punch for 40-odd years and grown to look a little like him. "The young 'uns are violent little rascals, an' they don't like a lot of talk. They just want to see Judy grab Punch's stick an' clout him on the button."

"But you must give the old 'uns a bit of a smile, too. Else they'll grab the young 'uns an' chivvy 'em off to see Robert Taylor in the cinema."

All Margate seems to feel the same way about it. The youngsters come first. The old 'uns have their dance halls and variety shows, their thrupenny chairs in the sun or their concert halls where baritone sing "Mandolay" and "Asleep in the Deep."

"But it's the youngsters and their 'fun-fair,' the donkey rides, and the Punch and Judy booths that bring half of London to Margate once a year for a week or a week-end.

The best things about children, say Margate's old-time showmen, is that they don't want novelty. Airplane swings are good enough in their place, but they'll never replace the old-fashioned, moth-eaten donkey.

It's the same way on the pier, which boasts the "world's largest collection of mechanical spectacles" at a penny a show. They tried to modernize it a couple of years back, with slot-machine bombs. For a penny, a small boy can work levers and drop bombs from a toy airplane, and get a celluloid comb if he hits a U-boat.

It doesn't draw the trade. The small fray—and a lot of the old 'uns—still shove their pennies into the old-stand-bys, and no wonder. For a penny they can see "three forms of capital punishment." Tiny puppets run by clockwork lead a man to the gallows, drop a noose over his head, and drop him through the trap. Another puppet is marched out, shot, and falls on his face. A third is laid in the guillotine, and his head sliced off into a basket.

Not bad, for a penny.

For another penny, the youngsters who like "violence" can see Joan of Arc march out to her funeral pyre in front of a parade of lead soldiers on horseback, and sink out of sight into a mass of red tissue paper flames.

Or they can see "A Tournament of King Arthur's Court," with two wooden horsemen galloping at each other and the loser getting toppled off by a spear. Or "The London Fire Department in Action" with two firemen racing up ladders to the third floor of a burning building and bringing down an anguished doll in a nightgown.

Or "The Midnight Murder," with a stinky puppet popping through a curtain, glowing over his sleeping victim, and sinking a stiletto into his gut.

All these spectacles, made by a London clockworks firm, date from the 1890's and seem respectably ancient. But Baker, impresario of the show with the longest run in the world, dismisses them contemptuously as a passing fad.

"Just you watch," he says, "when one of the boys comes up to put on the boxing gloves with Punch. You'll see the difference."

At the end of the next show, Punch challenges any small boy to a boxing match, and a low-headed six-year-old boy climbs to the shelf outside the booth, amid cheers and catcalls. Punch put gloves on him and they went to it. "Punch is a tricky fighter. He poked his long nose into the foe's ribs, butted him on the chin, tickled him, and the audience howled in glee.

Then the boy got the upper hand. Punch began to crumple, and staggered under the blows. He clasped his hands, pleading for mercy. To a wild storm of cheers, Punch flopped on his back and was counted out. Mrs. Baker, master of ceremonies, proclaimed tow-headed Jimmy Caslon, of East Ham, the winner, and awarded him a "purse" of sixpence.

And backstage, Baker winked and nodded at the excited babble of children's voices. "For a thousand years they've been laughing at this show," he said. "Make no mistake, it's Punch that keeps 'em coming to Margate."

Observation Car: By G. B.

HOW are you today?" a customer asked Bill, the Broad Street barber. "Feeling pretty old," Bill replied. "If you were not as old as you are, you would not be alive today," the customer chuckled. . . . While Tobacconist Martin was gazing out of the shop window during a brief travelling time, he heard a peculiar sound from an automobile, and saw the driver alight with a scowl on his face. "What happened?" one of the clerks inquired. "It appears that a blowout is a hissing sound followed by profanity," Martin explained. . . . From the Keating Squire: "I read somewhere that a will of his own helps a young man to succeed, but the will of a wealthy relative is even more help." . . . That man you saw leaving the shop told me I gave him the finest haircut he had received for 20 years."

Barber Ben boasted to the boss of the shop. "You should never listen to flattery," the boss snorted. "How can I tell when I am being flattered unless I listen?" Ben asked. . . . According to a news item, Long Island has a number of roadside billboards reading, "Drive Safely—We Can Wait." They were erected by the owners of a cemetery. . . . From The Windsor Star: "Opponents of public ownership should not feel too badly about the Canadian National Railway's 1948 deficit of $33,532,000. After all, the C.N.R. was built on the ruins of 13 private railways companies that went bankrupt."

. . . A public hearing is required by state law before the budget of the city of Seattle can be passed. Such a measure gives taxpayers an opportunity to present opposition to wild spending and foolish projects, and might well be followed by the British Columbia Legislature. Once voters elect mayors, Reeves, aldermen and councillors, they have little or no control over their actions.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

A FRIEND of mine just back from England reports among other things that Madame Tussaud's wax works is as good as over.

This forces from me a horrible confession. The first time I went to Madame Tussaud's, I was thunderstruck to discover that all the wax figures in the show looked like dummies to me. While my friends went about exclaiming, I fell deeper and deeper into a state of depression as I wandered amongst the painted effigies. Even the stuffed policeman, standing nonchalantly at one of the entrances, looked like a dummy to me, while everybody else either went and spoke to him, or else pretended to give him that deferential glance reserved for cops the world over. I left the wax works under the impression that my powers of perception were defective. All men should have a clearly defined capacity for being deceived.

Three times I visited the show, in various conditions and states of mind, trying to submit to the deception that so delighted everybody else. But in vain. The oftener I went, the dumber all the figures appeared. Worse than that, I developed a faculty for noticing, out on the street, how like wax dummies many of my fellow men appeared. Fortunately, the war took me away from London before I had entirely succumbed to the belief that people look more like wax dummies than wax dummies look like people.

My most embarrassing experience occurred at a press conference held by the greatest politician now living—I need not mention his name, as you will all know who I mean anyway. In repose, this great man looks more like a painted Madame Tussaud figure than anything she has ever achieved. When he sits still, he gives the powerful impression of an effigy.

I got the giggles. The private, internal sort of giggles that hurt. While he uttered imperishable words to the assembled newspapermen, I bent over my note pad suffering agonies nobody will credit. And I missed the whole story for my paper.

"Affable Butcher"—I trust, madam, that you liked the sausages?

Customer (acidly):—Well, I must admit they were not quite as bad as they were tainted.

The only time kind words are ever lost is when they're put in a letter and given to a husband to mail.

Joe—Yes. I poured some of it in an ash tray.

Sam—Did it turn green?
Joe—I don't know. I can't find the ash tray.

TRAVEL NOTE

A British Columbia woman who arrived here a while ago by air for a long visit sent a trunk ahead by sea. After six weeks of effort (partly due to the London dock strike) she succeeded in having the trunk unloaded from a ship in London docks. To get possession of it, however, she had to pay $32.

Sixteen dollars of this was the cost of having the trunk moved from the ship to the dock (from there on, she transported it herself, by taxi). The remaining $16 was in customs duty.

The dutiable articles (all of which were for her own use): six cakes of soap; one box of rouge; three tooth brushes; ten pairs of nylon, none of them new.

The British Columbia woman is not very happy about this. She has, in fact, decided she will spend most of her time in France and Denmark instead of England. —British News-paper.

Fear of New Gang War Follows Illinois Ambush

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Sept. 9 (INS).—Fear of a revival of the bitter gang wars of the 20's in which warring gunmen stalked each other in tanks, armored cars and even planes, hovered over Southern Illinois tonight in the wake of the attempted slaying of "Little Earl" Shelton.

"Little Earl," 34, a nephew of the Shelton brothers who gained notoriety during prohibition-era gang wars, was cut down by a fusillade of machinegun slugs in front of his Fairfield home early today.

His body, pierced in eight places by bullets, "Little Earl" pulled his own gun and emptied it at his assailants as they roared away in a traditional big black sedan.

He was immediately rushed 70 miles to the Deaconess Hospital, Evansville, Ind.

LIKELY WILL LIVE

"Big Earl," sole surviving Shelton brother, sped to his nephew's bedside and emerged later to tell newsmen that doctors said "Little Earl" would live if no infection sets in.

The uncle said "Little Earl" had obtained the license number of the auto from which the shots were fired. He asserted that this information had been turned over to police.

Asked if he knew who shot "Little Earl," the uncle snapped:

"I've got an idea."

Asked if he would settle the matter in usual gangland style or let the law do it, "Big Earl" retorted:

"I won't answer that question."

Wayne County Sheriff Hal Bradshaw said later that the license number given him by "Little Earl," 81, ex-convict turned farmer, he said authorities were puzzled over how the wounded man could have seen the license plates in the darkness.

Harris owns land near Fairfield adjoining the Sheltons and had argued with them over its boundaries.

SAGA OF LAWLESSNESS

The attempt on "Little Earl's" life is the latest chapter in the story of the Sheltons—a saga of brazen lawlessness and sudden, violent death.

Probing Blaze In Sanitarium

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 9 (CP).—The fire department today is seeking the cause of the $25,000 fire which swept through a section of the Hollywood Sanitarium here last night.

What might have been a major disaster was averted by 55 firemen who in a two-hour fight removed the sanitarium's 60 patients.

It was the largest fire here since the blaze which swept the Pastime Club in July, 1948.

Damage was estimated at about $25,000 by Dr. E. A. Campbell, sanitarium medical supervisor.

NEW POLIO CASES

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Four new cases of polio were reported by General Hospital today. To date, 141 cases have been treated at the hospital this year.

Arctic Explorer Reports Discovery of 25 Islands

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 9 (CP).—Cmdr. Donald B. MacMillan came out of an Arctic gale today with a new map of the Labrador coast and a collection of fossils.

The 74-year-old veteran of 28 trips to the land of the midnight sun told reporters he discovered 25 islands—mostly off the northern ice-ringed Labrador coast, and made 1,000 soundings in the fjords of Baffin and Ellesmere Islands.

Discoveries, he said, will necessitate changes in maps of the district. His findings will be recorded with the United States Hydrographic Office in Washington.

38 EXPEDITIONS

The commander was a member of the Peary expedition which discovered the North Pole in 1909. His 38 northern ventures have produced valuable scientific and navigational data and he supports a school for Eskimos at Nain, Labrador. He also is the author of several books on the Arctic.

Cmdr. MacMillan described this voyage as "the stormiest" in 40 years of Arctic travel. Tomorrow, he heads home to Boothbay Harbor, Me., in his sturdy ship, Bowdoin.

The Bowdoin, with her 75-man crew—science and geology students—the sons of wealthy parents—will arrive in Boothbay September 15.

Cmdr. MacMillan said the group reached a point 40 miles inside the Arctic Circle and he gathered a collection of fossils "millions of years old." These were deposited in the district by retreating glaciers.

Tito to Receive Aid In Fighting Moscow

By J. J. ROBERTS, Jr.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

Marshal Tito is to have the economic power of the West behind him in his battle against Russian imperialism in Yugoslavia.

It is the same power which saved the postwar governments of Italy and Greece, handicapped the Communists in France, bolstered the resistance of Turkey and Iran, established a democratic government in Western Germany, held the line in Berlin, and is now helping Finland.

Tito is to have an American-fabricated steel mill, mining machinery and other material which is denied to iron curtain countries. The $20,000,000 loan he is receiving from the Export-Import Bank is expected to be followed by a larger loan from the western-financed World Bank for Recovery and Development.

Yugoslavia has just negotiated a $94,000,000 trade agreement with Italy. A new big trade agreement with Britain is expected to be announced shortly.

Thus the West indicates its conviction that Tito is bringing 15,000,000 people back from behind the iron curtain.

NOT NEW ALLY

He is by no means recognized as a new ally. In fact, he is not—that he will not be bought by the West any more than he would be controlled by the East. But as an enemy of Moscow—by the Kremlin's avowal as well as his own—he is to be supported.

In the month since Russia tagged Tito as an enemy it has become apparent that Russia hopes, through an intensive propaganda campaign and an economic blockade, to encourage internal unrest in Yugoslavia to the point where pro-Moscow Communists could oust Tito, perhaps even kill him.

But the Tito regime has gone serenely on its way. The marshal, wonderfully equipped to counter Moscow's methods because of his long experience as "one of the boys" himself, seems perfectly assured.

The dispute has actually developed signs of anti-Russian agitation—among Communists in Germany, and in the other Balkan states as evidenced by their party purges.

This picture can only be heightened by the sight of rebellious Tito, sitting back and getting vital machinery from the West which is also badly needed in Poland, Czechoslovakia and others among Yugoslavia's former Cominform partners.

Private Unit Said Feasible

BANFF, Alta., Sept. 9 (CP).—The Western Association of Broadcasters in annual meeting here today requested its resolutions committee to present a resolution regarding the question of establishing a privately operated network of Canadian radio stations.

The matter was discussed after the W.A.B. president, William Guild of Lethbridge, Alta., reported to the meeting on the presentation made earlier this week by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters of which he is chairman of the board and the C.B.C. before the Royal Commission of Arts and Science at Ottawa.

Mr. Guild said the C.A.B. brief to the commission did not suggest establishment of a private network. However, he had told the commission in answer to a question that a private network was entirely feasible, could be established and he felt it would be a benefit to Canada.

Mr. Guild said that a news report of the Ottawa hearings had quoted him as saying that a private network would be economically unsound.

"Has Everything" But Wins Sweep

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Sept. 9 (CP).—A man who "has everything" today won a $4,000 sweepstake.

He is N. B. Gram, a 48-year-old retired wheat farmer from Wilcox, Sask., and he says he doesn't know what he's going to do with the household and sporting goods he won for his estimate on the Fraser River Barrel Derby.

He already owns everything he won except a few guns and golf clubs.

Gram's winning estimate for the time it would take the Rotary barrel to travel from Lytton, B.C., to the Pattullo Bridge here was 77 hours, 42 minutes, three and 4/5 seconds. He was only 24 2/5 seconds off the actual time.

Currently he's thinking about auction sales.

British Unions Support Policy Of Government

BRIDGINGTON, Yorkshire, England, Sept. 9 (CP).—The five-day conference of the Trades Union Congress came to an end today after giving striking evidence of support of the Government's "produce more"

The annual conference, delegates to which represented 9,000,000 workers, threw its support behind the Labor Government policy of freeing wages, prices and profits. It was urged to do this by the T.U.C. general council, which contended that the cure for Britain's economic troubles is greater production at lower cost.

The conference also took some vigorous swipes at Communism. The delegates voted to approve British withdrawal from the World Federation of Trade Unions, on the grounds that it is Communist-dominated, and in favor of British initiative in establishing a rival anti-Communist world labor organization.

FAVOR "HOUSE-CLEANING"

The delegates also voted in favor of a "house-cleaning" drive aimed to remove Communists from all positions of influence in the British trade union movement.

They went on record as overwhelmingly opposed to a motion to abandon the projected purge of Communists and Fascists from the civil service.

They heard a speech by Prime Minister Attlee in which he sharply attacked persons he said were trying to cause hostility between Britain and the United States. Attlee also declared the Government is determined to keep the lid on wages and prices.

Two Per Cent Without Jobs

OTTAWA, Sept. 9 (CP).—Canada's percentage of unemployed last summer was only one-third that of the United States, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

A sample survey of about 25,000 households, the bureau said, showed the civilian labor force stood at 5,131,000 in June with unemployment at 103,000.

The unemployment figure was 2 per cent of the labor force, against 6 per cent in the United States.

The survey showed the labor force had increased by 91,000 from June of 1948. During the same period, the unemployed total had risen by 21,000 from 82,000.

Unemployment was heaviest in the Maritimes and lightest in the Prairie Provinces in June this year.

In the Maritimes, the percentage unemployed was 4.1 per cent of the labor force. On the Prairies, it was 1.1 per cent. The percentages in other areas: Quebec, 2.5; Ontario, 1.6; British Columbia, 2.2.

Bevin Plans Visit To Ottawa Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (CP).—Ernest Bevin hopes to visit Ottawa late this month, an aide said today.

He quoted the British Foreign Secretary as saying the visit, if it can be arranged, will be during the last ten days of September.

Bevin is here for the Anglo-Canadian-American financial talks.

He will remain for a meeting of the foreign ministers of the Atlantic Pact countries, starting September 17, and will go to Lake Success, N.Y., September 20 for a meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

The Ottawa trip would be some time after that.

Sloop Amethyst On Way Home

HONGKONG, Sept. 9 (CP).—The Royal Navy sloop Amethyst, spick and span after the scars of Communist gunfire on the Yangtze River had been erased, left for Britain today.

Aboard was the same crew which anxiously waited out three months on the river before their sensational escape to the sea late in July.

Many Visiting Cruisers Stress Dockage Lack

Marine News

G. A. Yardley, Victoria's Collector of Customs, said yesterday the number of pleasure craft visiting this city and other parts of Lower Vancouver Island this summer had been approximately 50 per cent higher than last year.

This estimate, he said, covered a yacht basin in or about the Victoria and Sidney, where visiting pleasure boats—practically all of them—arrive to obtain cruising permits which allow them to cruise in and about British Columbia coast ports.

It was interesting news to Tom Denny, head of the Chamber of Commerce harbor development company which has been pleading for adequate docking facilities for such vessels for the past several years.

The cruising permits, Mr. Yardley explained, are issued for an eight-month period. Vessels receiving them are entitled to call at British Columbia ports as many times as they want within that period.

NUMBER UNKNOWN

Officials of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, and similar organizations of the Island, claim most citizens have no idea of the number of United States pleasure craft that cruise in British Columbia waters each summer.

Scout Official Tells Lions Of Jamboree

Yesterday's meeting of the Victoria Lions Club at the Empress Hotel was a most interesting one.

Key men of the British Columbia Boy Scout organization were at the head table. Guest speaker was Freeman King, executive commissioner for the Greater Victoria district.

Present at the meeting were T. W. S. Parsons, provincial commissioner, Victoria, and R. K. Jordan, provincial executive commissioner, Vancouver. E. A. Estlin, president of the Lions Club, is district commissioner for the Greater Victoria area.

Highlights of the recent Boy Scout Jamboree, held near Ottawa, were presented by Mr. King, who said it was the first such event ever held in Canada, and its organization "a tremendous task." He said it was one of the greatest experiences ever known to scouts who attended from all parts of Canada. A contingent of 450 went from British Columbia. Of these, almost 100 were from the Greater Victoria area.

At the jamboree, Mr. King said, the scouts of each province established their own "towns." The British Columbia group just one and a half hours to get their "town" established. Then they reached the scene it was a bare field.

Scout groups from each province staged their individual jamboree pageants, in addition to presenting a number of special displays and entertainment programs. The young men were taken on several sight-seeing tours of Ottawa.

A former newspaperman, Mr. Shaw began his career with the Victoria Times. Later he worked for The Toronto Star and on newspapers in China. He joined The Vancouver Province in 1932. When war broke out he joined the navy and served as a lieutenant-commander.

He is to assume his new post October 1, power commission officials said.

ROYAL One of the happiest motion pictures ever made is now showing at the Royal Theatre, and this reviewer is still in a glow after having seen it. It is Paramount's picturization of Damon Runyon's "Sorrowful Jones," co-starring Bob Hope and Lucille Ball and featuring in important roles William Demarest, Bruce Cabot, Thomas Gomez, Tom Pedi and little Mary Jane Saunders.

CAPITOL Clark Gable and Alexis Smith form the exciting new romantic team in "Any Number Can Play," which opens at the Capitol Theatre this week as one of the year's top attractions. Trigger-quick drama of a night in the life of a big-time gambler, the M-G-M hit also features Wendell Corey, Audrey Totter, Frank Morgan, Mary Astor, Lewis Stone, Barry Sullivan and Marjorie Rambeau.

Would Revise 'O Canada'

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9 (CP).—Mrs. O. S. Peale, president of the Women's Canadian Club, isn't happy about one of Canada's national songs and today she's on the warpath.

She hopes to get the Canadian Club's 2,000 members behind her and get "O Canada" revised, or at least have one of its two versions designated as the official one.

"God Save the King" is Canada's national anthem.

"For how," she asks, "can we ever hope to have Canadian unity until we have a standard national anthem?"

To this end, the Women's Canadian Club at its national convention September 23 in Saskatoon, will deal with the matter of an official anthem.

One of the members—Mrs. Percy Shallocross—has written lyrics for "O Canada" which chart a middle course between the two versions now in use.

The Shallocross lyrics eliminate reference to our "native land," contained in the Weir version, but retain the first two lines of the Buchanan version.

"As a basis for discussion, the new version will be proposed as the official version." However, Mrs. Peale adds, she herself prefers the Buchanan version, now used by the Vancouver branch of the Women's Canadian Club.

"I'm embarrassed every time I hear an audience in Vancouver try to sing 'O Canada' with people not knowing what to sing as devotees of one version try to drown out those of the other.

"We in Vancouver realize that we are almost alone in using the Buchanan version and that two of its lines must be altered in view of our newly-acquired nationhood.

"But on the other hand we find the monotonous Weir version unacceptable, as our foreign-born new citizens also must, for how can they sing with conviction or sincerity 'O Canada, my home and native land'?"

The more commonly used Weir version begins:

"O Canada, our home and native land,
"True patriot love
"The Buchanan version begins:
"O Canada, our heritage and love,
"Thy worth we praise, all other lands above."

South's void in his partner's opening bid should have warned him against over-aggressiveness—his three-diamond bid on the second round was too provocative. It was only natural that this bid should have "excited" North, and resulted in the slam contract that had such little chance for success.

West opened his top trump, dummy played low, and East put up the ace. On East's trump return, South saw no chance whatsoever for 12 tricks, and, to reduce his losses, discarded a heart on the club ace, then played the ace and another heart. West captured the ten with the jack and took out dummy's last trump. The consequence was that South went down two tricks.

To repeat, there was a pretty slim chance for this slam contract, but surely declarer should not have given up without a struggle! On winning East's spade return in dummy, South should have ruffed a low club, then should have returned to dummy with a diamond and ruffed another low club. A second lead of diamonds would let him ruff a third club with his own last trump; then he should go to the heart ace, pull West's trump by cashing the jack (while South discarded a heart) and finally lay down the club ace. With the king and queen falling, South could now get two more discards on the ace and jack of clubs, and he would end up by taking the ace and ten of diamonds, thus fulfilling the contract.

Fifth Game Necessary in Softball Finals

Victoria Timber Service forced fifth and deciding game for Western Canada softball title by defeating Calgary Eric's, 8-5, in fourth game at Royal Athletic Park last night. Mickey Smith, Logger first baseman, is shown starting for first after making ground smash that forced Bernie Clarkson at second in fifth inning. Bill Alexander, Calgary catcher, is shown at left.

Timbermen Square Series With Eric's

It was Calgary's turn to be generous in the Western Canada softball finals last night. The Eric's, who had won the first two games, gave up 14 hits and 10 runs in a 10-5 victory over the Timbermen. The game was played at Royal Athletic Park.

Calgary took the lead in the first inning when they scored three runs. The Timbermen responded in the second inning with a three-run homer by Jim Hill.

The game was tied 2-2 in the third inning. In the fourth, the Timbermen scored three runs to take a 5-2 lead. The game was tied again in the fifth inning.

Kelly looked like a hard man to beat in the first two frames as he threw only one called ball. Meanwhile, his maverick gave him a one-run lead when singles by Jim and Bill Finney and two passed balls by catcher Les Wilson permitted Jim Finney to circle the bases in the second.

Clarkson Troublesome. Bernie Clarkson, who has only failed to reach base twice in his last 13 trips to the plate, touched Kelly for the first time in the first six innings but left after two were out and the Calgary hurler immediately found himself in trouble. He gave up two walks to fill the bases and Jack O'Neil came through with a single to left centre to score Clarkson and Gus Hillon with the first two Logger runs. Two walks and Jim Ireland's single filled the bases in the eighth and Ray Hough drove in the third Victoria tally as he forced a runner at third.

Hough Brilliant. With Hough hurling brilliant ball, the two-run margin looked big after the sixth. Hough matched Kelly's three-hitter in the first six innings but left only one runner stranded as he showed excellent control.

Hilton led off the seventh. Singles by Victoria and Wilson and three

Kid Gavilan Decisions Castellani

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP). Kid Gavilan, slick Havana pitcher, was a feared Rocky Calavan's opponent in the 1918 game of the year by a unanimous decision on August 11, the day following Gavilan's 15th birthday.

Second game in the series, scheduled for Saturday night, will be a third, if needed, due Monday. Team arguments with B.C. A. officials over financial arrangements for the series, a hiccup that clouded the official opening, were ended again following the initial battle.

Both clubs descended on B.C. A. Press. Doug Fletcher, who voiced their disapproval over game arrangements. The arguments, however, were not expected to bring consideration of the possibility to determine a British Columbia title.

Referee Peter Souza called it for Gavilan 7-2 with one out. Judge on the way out.

Don Cavill found for the "Kidd" 6-4, and Judge Jack Gordon gave Gavilan a 6-1 edge with one out. The A.P. score called it for Gavilan 7-2 with one out.

A surprisingly good-sized crowd of 11,241 paid $31,716.

Native Sons Take Lead Over Trail

NANAIMO, Sept. 9 (CP). Nanaimo Native Sons tonight took a one-game edge in the provincial senior "B" league championships when they defeated Trail Golden Bears, 10-12, before 1,100 at a fair at the Civic Arena.

The much-argued series, canceled at first and then ordered on again, had Nanaimo taking a 2-1 margin in the first period with Trail bouncing back to outpace Nanaimo 4-1 in the last 30 seconds when thelanders appeared to lag a bit.

Third period, however, saw Nanaimo tighten the lead and take home a half-dozen national trophies and trophies. The game was tied 3-3 at the end of the first period and 4-4 at the end of the second.

Clutching to force the pace, Nanaimo capitalized their lead period spurge and outscored Trail 6-4. The period was closed with penalties and investigated by a judge between Ken Featherstone of Trail and Larry Gordon of Nanaimo. Both drew five minutes.

Jim Lafane and Ken Featherstone traded passes each for Trail. But Kennedy added two with Don Lafane, Art Lafane and Martin Smith scoring together.

For Nanaimo, it was Bill Seward with four who topped the scoring. Asch Johnston and Don White added with three each. Caverley, Earl Benne, Reg Dorman bagged two apiece with Jim and Jack Scott getting single.

Second game in the series, scheduled for Saturday night, will be a third, if needed, due Monday. Team arguments with B.C. A. officials over financial arrangements for the series, a hiccup that clouded the official opening, were ended again following the initial battle.

Both clubs descended on B.C. A. Press. Doug Fletcher, who voiced their disapproval over game arrangements. The arguments, however, were not expected to bring consideration of the possibility to determine a British Columbia title.

Minister Has Praise Honor Children For Fair at Duncan

DUNCAN, Sept. 9.—Annual Fair of the Cowichan Agricultural Society was officially opened at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon by Hon. Harry Bowman, Minister of Agriculture. The ceremony was broadcast over Radio Station CHUB, Nanaimo.

J. A. P. Mutter, president of the society, and the third generation of his family to hold that office, spoke briefly on past fairs, and outlined efforts of the society to expand to a Class "B" fair. He mentioned the fine support of the various service clubs, which helped expand the show so that this year it was known as the Cowichan Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition.

He then called upon Dr. J. B. Munro to introduce Mr. Bowman. Dr. Munro greeted many of his old friends among pioneers of the district, and recalled former occasions when he had attended fairs.

MAKES FAIR GRANT

Mr. Bowman paid tribute to the quality and quantity of entries in most classes, and then presented Mr. Mutter with a Provincial Government grant to the exhibition.

Feature attraction was the gymkhana. Attendance was five times that of last year. A horse show and the truck-driving competitions will be held Saturday.

The exhibition was open to the public Thursday, but general judging was not completed until Friday. Livestock judging will take place on Saturday.

An increase in attendance was attributed to more exhibits and attractions, and perfect weather.

Honor Children At Parksville

PARKSVILLE, Sept. 9.—A ceremony arranged under the auspices of the Parksville Kinmen Club, ribbons were presented to children who successfully completed the Red Cross swimming classes conducted this summer by Rev. G. T. Pattison and Mrs. E. R. Thwaites. Among those receiving ribbons were Diana Rushton, Valerie Pemberton, Yvonne Spooner, Mary Garrett, Marilyn Nicholson, Mary Hickey, Donald Britton, Robert Britton, Ellen Pletilla, Maxine Tyson, Jean Morris, Jack Nicholson, Joyce Butler, William Ribbons, Larry Hodgson, Mary Tyson, Joan Bowman, Lois Steel, Ronald Steele, June Marshall, Edward Murrant, Laura Singer, Marnie Murrant, James Singer, Diana Brown, Robert Hickey, Donald McGowan, Eleanor Spooner, Betty Lambert and Ann Bullock.

Presentations were made by C. S. Johnson, and Dr. W. F. Brydson. Jack of Qualicum Beach gave a short address on behalf of the Red Cross. He commended the instructors for the good work they had done in training the children and keeping their interest in the classes. Many parents and friends were in attendance, and refreshments were served by a group of mothers under the leadership of Mrs. L. Murrant.

Trades taught were: Signaller, all arm operator, special engineering equipment; driver, mechanic; operator, fire control equipment, radar, and medical assistants. Buckingham attended the driver mechanic course, and Norton and Smith took the signaller, all arms course.

Tests for juniors were passed by Donna Tappin, Joyce Canning and David Noble; tadpoles, Shirley Canning, Janet Good, Jacqueline Breeden, Bryan Stovell, Nancy Dunn, Herbert Simpson, Pat Hillier, Beverley Goad, Gloria Mountain and Anne Arder; jellyfish test, Gail Goad, Richard Ragan, Robin Fahlrick, Robert Mountain, Lynn Hillier, Marian Glasford, Norman Avidar and Beverley Canning.

A film on safety in swimming was shown by Mr. Pattison, who also gave a short talk on lifesaving.

Nature of the work is hazardous. There is a sheer drop of 40 feet to the creek below. Aldermen learned that a few tons of rock blasted into the creek would not affect fish navigating the waters, but rather would tend to create more pools.

Province Again Asked To Assume School Costs

In its closing sessions yesterday the U.B.C.M. convention petitioned the Provincial Government to assume all education and social service costs by reaffirming a resolution passed by the 1947 convention.

This resolution pointed out that school costs had risen to such a level as to threaten the existence of other essential services being provided by municipal governments.

The 1947 resolution called on the Provincial Education Department to finance and control through the presently constituted school boards the entire educational program of the province.

BATTLE AVERTED
A convention floor battle which appeared to be looming over the possibility of shelving a request for a 50-50 share of the 3 per cent sales tax was averted when the Province was again asked to assume all education costs.

The only reference made to the sales tax yesterday was contained in the original 1947 resolution which asked for imposition of an educational tax on the sales tax principle.

Some municipalities within the union had contended that because the U.B.C.M. had proposed the idea of a sales tax they were entitled to a one-half share when the tax was finally introduced by the Provincial Government last year.

The convention endorsed a request made earlier this year by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities calling on the Federal Government to make grants for education costs to Provincial Governments.

Chief Justice Gordon McGregor Sloan has been appointed as the U.B.C.M. Commissioner to inquire into the Workmen's Compensation Act, Labor Minister John Cates announced yesterday.

The appointment follows request of unions over the last two or three years for an overhaul of the act.

Chief Justice Sloan will deal with such matters as the administration of the act, any relative facts and reasons relating to any proposed amendments to the act, and any questions of law or fact which may be referred to the commission or into which it may, in his opinion, be necessary to inquire.

Dates of the hearing are to be announced shortly.

Said Mr. Cates: "The Government is gratified that the services of so able and experienced a commissioner have been made available in this matter of such great importance to labor and industry."

Chief Justice Sloan made a similar inquiry into the act several years ago which resulted in changes being made. He also served as a commissioner inquiring into the forestry industry, which resulted in the Government's policy of issuing forest management licenses.

Park Areas Earmarked
Four more park areas have been set aside by the Provincial Government. Two areas of five acres each are on the shore of Bonaparte Lake. The others are 31.1 acres fronting on Harrison Lake immediately west of the mouth of Big Silver Creek, and 6.46 acres on Lower Arrow Lake southwest of Deer Park.

Publishers of Offensive Literature Lashed at Closing U.B.C.M. Session

Publishers of obscene literature came in for a lashing during closing sessions of the U.B.C.M. convention yesterday.

Major E. G. Fletcher of Trail told delegates that his city had instituted a drive to remove all obscene publications from Canada's newsstands.

He said children were being given literature, adding that he was not concerned so much with crime comics as with obscene pocket books.

The convention passed a resolution calling on the Federal Justice Minister "to investigate and where necessary prosecute the publishers of obscene literature."

DISCUSS SUPERANNUATION

Delegates decided that investigation should be carried further into a proposal to tax insurance companies and their agents before seeking changes in the Insurance Act. The matter was referred to the U.B.C.M. executive with a request that a conference be held with the superintendent of insurance.

A special committee report stating that the matter of increasing superannuation benefits for firemen and police should be left to local municipalities to work out was endorsed by the convention.

Alderman J. D. Cornett of Vancouver said firemen and police unions had agreed to contribute 50 per cent of any superannuation increases which might be agreed on.

"Instead of trying to get this group to assist their own people through charitable methods we should be trying to get superannuation for all the people of Canada," all past presidents.

The Daily Colonist—23
Saturday, September 10, 1948

observed Alderman R. K. Gervin of Vancouver.

The U.B.C.M. went on record as opposing the application of the B.C. Telephone Company for an increase in telephone rates.

Just before the conclusion of the convention yesterday, retiring president, Mayor Percy George, of Victoria, was made a life member of the U.B.C.M., a privilege extended to all past presidents.

Many Hunting, Unaware Of B.C. Delay

Many hunters are still in the U.P. Island woods, unaware that the opening of the hunting season has been postponed one week, says Cecil French, Empress Hotel.

Mr. French set out for Campbell River at 6 a.m. on Thursday to go hunting. It was a trip he had made every year for 25 years.

He reached Campbell River at noon. Not long afterwards he learned that hunting had been postponed because of dry conditions.

Scores of Americans who were there complained bitterly and set off for home, he reported.

Others had already set off to camp in the bush, beyond communication, and will be hunting today.

"Why didn't they warn us on the first of the week?" Mr. French demanded. "It would have saved us a useless journey."

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1949

Today's Quotation: "After all, a little good taste does no harm, and the fever of Perfection is not catching."—Eugene O'Neill.

Saturday for Everyone—Make "economy" your watchword today, particularly when buying. Do not permit yourself to be drawn into extravagant expenditures in connection with social activities. Don't lend or borrow. Look for your birth date and birth sign below:

March 21 to April 19—(Aries)—Get personal matters "in hand"; adopt a decisive but unemotional outlook on issues.

April 20 to May 20—(Taurus)—Avoid group, head-on assaults; use finesse. Wrap your program and aspirations in some secrecy.

May 21 to June 20—(Gemini)—Hold to a policy of discretion with new acquaintances lest you find yourself with a flattened bankroll.

June 21 to July 22—(Cancer)—Await a more decisive trend before getting behind major ventures. Be guarded, tactful.

July 23 to Aug. 22—(Leo)—Don't pursue the will-o'-the-wisp; be practical. Push tasks, duties.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22—(Virgo)—Bend an ear to what people say early today; they can vitally affect your affairs and finances.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22—(Libra)—Keep your perspective by staying in a straight course today. Be cautious; try to effect unity.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21—(Scorpio)—Restore vitality and bodily vigor. Side-step troubles of others.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21—(Sagittarius)—Be alert for true tidings, information. Resist the impulse to believe all you hear.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19—(Capricorn)—Give persons around you ample time. Adopt an objective, responsible approach.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18—(Aquarius)—Be willing to devote yourself unstintingly to some trivial matters. Don't be pressed into decisions.

Feb. 19 to March 20—(Pisces)—"Plug up" some leak in your financial set-up. Take steps to negate stress.

Planning Ahead—Good for sociability, entertaining, etc.: September 11; evening of 12, 14, 16, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 27; evening of 29, 30; October 1 and 3.
